

Mountain Medicine

Professional outlets: This course will train professional figures such as medical doctors and paramedics, interested in working for the alpine rescue, the mountain regionals emergency services and/or following alpine expeditions or high altitude trekking. This course might also be of interest for physicians from different specialties working in mountain areas or for those who want to engage in a laboratory for high altitude medicine. Finally, the course can be useful to introduce people with different backgrounds to the knowledge of scientific and research topics related to mountains and high altitude, also favouring contacts helpful for future research projects in this field. A successful conclusion of this course in Mountain Medicine will provide a certification of the Union Internationale des Associations d'Alpinisme (UIAA) for medical doctors who possess an attestation of a recognized course in climbing and/or alpinism. This course is accredited with ECM, also for auditors.
