CVEinAl

Programme	CVEinAl - Critical Virtual Exchange in Artificial Intelligence
Overall description	CVEinAl - 'Critical Virtual Exchange in Artificial Intelligence' is a Virtual Exchange programme funded by the European Commission under the Erasmus+ Key Action 1 - Virtual Exchange, coordinated by Unipd.
	The CVEinAl project is designed to foster critical literacy and ethical awareness in Artificial Intelligence (AI) among university students across Europe and Sub-Saharan Africa. By setting up a Critical Virtual Exchange (CVE), the initiative aims to provide an interactive and interdisciplinary learning environment where students from various disciplines engage in meaningful discussions on AI-related issues.
	Through a transcultural and transdisciplinary approach, CVEinAl encourages participants to analyse Al-related topics from both global and local ("glocal") perspectives, fostering intercultural dialogue and promoting ethically sound decision-making in Al practices. This initiative ultimately empowers future professionals to navigate the complexities of Al with critical thinking, ethical awareness, and a global outlook
Contents	The course "Exploring AI from African and European perspectives" is divided into the following 5 units:
	Unit 0: Introduction Unit 1. Al Foundations, uses and critical thinking Unit 2. Ethical Issues and Bias Risks in Al Unit 3. Al Power, Trust and Society: Al for good vs Al for all Unit 4. Responsible Al Design
	Each unit is delivered over the course of one week and has an estimated minimum workload of 5 hours, totalling 25 hours across 5 weeks. Every week includes an online synchronous session (approx. 90 minutes), with the remaining coursework carried out asynchronously. Activities are carried out in small groups of up to 15 students and include interactive discussions, practical experimentation, and group work and reflections in both synchronous and asynchronous formats.  For further details, please refer to the programme's webpages available at https://www.unipd.it/en/cveinai and
