Abstract del progetto	The BIP is focusing on ideas and solutions for inclusive leadership strategies that address the diverse needs of clients, staff, and communities in the context of climate adaptation within health and social care settings. The course concentrates on identifying and implementing sustainable strategies that incorporate innovative and environmentally conscious practices to mitigate the impact of climate change. Participants will learn to design and implement resilience-building plans that respond to climate-related challenges. Additionally, the course emphasizes the comprehensive application of inclusive leadership principles from the perspectives of people, operations, and organizational

	culture. Through participative leadership, participants will be guided to develop and establish sustainable, evidence-based solutions and operational models. Virtual component: There will be a pre-study module for the participating students. The pedagogical method is flipped learning. The intention is that the pre-study module is quite comprehensive so that there is no need for extensive lectures in Finland. After that, the BIP will have a collaborative online learning exchange meeting before the intensive period in Finland. Intensive period of Collaborative Learning in Finland: The students and teachers will work together in groups according to the objectives.
