Course Title and Description

The telegraph and its global connections
(19th-20th centuries)

Prof. Fari will hold 8 hours of seminars in English on the global impact of the telegraph. The seminars will be divided into 4 meetings on the following topics:

- 1) Origin of the telegraph: British private companies;
- 2) Private undertaking vs State monopoly: the land telegraph service;
- 3) Submarine telegraphy and transoceanic cable laying;
- 4) The International Telegraph Union

The activities will be open not only to the students of the curriculum on Mobility Studies - in particular to the ones enrolled at the course on Commodity Chains in World History held by prof. Andrea Caracausi – but also to all the University students, thanks to the blended modality of delivery of the seminars
