2. Le fasi di istituzione e attivazione di un nuovo corso di studio.
3. La dimensione orientativa dei Percorsi per la Competenze Trasversali e l'Orientamento

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

Building a fun and relaxing physical environment dedicated to the act of reading can contribute to both comprehension and student engagement. Literacy author Karen Tankersley recommends creating "poetry coffee shops," a project in which the classroom is turned into space where children can read their favorite poems to an audience. Tankersley encourages teachers to create the full "coffee shop" experience, complete with snacks, mood lighting and invitations for parents to serve as audience members. As an alternative, teachers can set up a dedicated "reading nook" area in their classrooms. This area may be as simple as a corner with a table and chairs, or it may be a creatively decorated space with pillows, mats, canopies and more. Teachers should aim for creating a place that is both enjoyable to occupy and comfortable enough for their students to read in for a length of time.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

European citizens need to be better equipped with the knowledge, skills and competences needed in a dynamically changing society that is increasingly mobile, multicultural and digital. Spending time in another country to study, to learn and to work should become the standard, while speaking two other languages in addition to ones' mother tongue should be the norm. The Programme is a key component supporting the objectives of the European Education Area, the Digital Education Action Plan 2021-2027, the European Youth Strategy and the European Union Workplan for Sport. As the COVID-19 pandemic has shown, access to education is proving, more than ever, to be essential to ensuring a swift recovery, while promoting equal opportunities for all. As part of this recovery process, the Erasmus+ programme takes its inclusive dimension to a new horizon by supporting opportunities for personal, socio-educational and professional development of people in Europe and beyond, with the aim of leaving no-one behind.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

Babysitting consists of keeping children away from potential dangers. While an elementary school teacher's role does involve ensuring all children are safe and accounted for, there is much more to the job. Elementary school teachers are responsible for molding minds at their most impressionable stages. In addition to creating educational foundations and developing crucial skill sets, elementary teachers provide their students with moral direction and an introduction to responsibility. "You went to school a long time. Shouldn't you be a millionaire?" It takes several years of education and more than 40-hour workweeks to be a teacher. With all the hard work and responsibilities that accompany the profession, it may be hard to believe teachers aren't paid millions of dollars a year. However, unlike other professionals, those who become teachers do so for reasons other than money. Teachers enter the classroom because they care about the world's future. Teachers want the responsibility of helping the generation evolve into intelligent adults and powerful leaders.

The European Commission also bears the overall responsibility for the supervision and coordination of the structures in charge of implementing the Programme at national level. At European level, the European Commission's Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency (Executive Agency) is responsible for the implementation of the centralised Actions of the Erasmus+ Programme. The Executive Agency is in charge of the complete life-cycle management of these projects, from the promotion of the Programme, the analysis of the grant requests, the monitoring of projects on the spot, up to the dissemination of the project and Programme results. It is also responsible for launching specific calls for proposals relating to some Actions of the Programme which are not covered through this Guide. While Erasmus+ encourages beneficiaries to apply the most open licenses, 4 beneficiaries may choose licenses that impose some limitations, e.g. restrict commercial use by others, or commit others to apply the same license on derivative works.

The eligibility criteria mainly relate to the type of project and activities (including, where relevant, duration, participating organisations, etc.), the target group (e.g. status and number of participants involved) and the conditions for submitting a grant request for such a project (e.g. deadlines for submission, completeness of the application form, etc.). To be eligible, the project must meet all the eligibility criteria relating to the Action under which the proposal is submitted. If the project does not meet these criteria at application stage, it will be rejected without being further evaluated. As an exception, in case of mobility activities and EMJMD Scholarships supported under Key Action 1 or Key Action 2, some eligibility criteria (e.g. duration, profile of participants, etc.) may only be verified during the stage of project implementation or at final report stage (not at application stage). At application stage, the applicants will be asked to declare that these criteria will be met by the project.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

The importance of reading comprehension cannot be overstated. Understanding what we read is a crucial skill, applicable to nearly every area of life. However, it doesn't always come easily. Every day, teachers face the challenge of how to engage reluctant readers and improve their students' understanding of the written word. Below are a number of proven reading comprehension strategies for the classroom. Teachers seek to motivate their students. Therefore, assigning texts that speak to students' individual interests can help tremendously. Teachers should look for any way they can to personalize their curricula. This might mean offering students particularly interesting reading materials, allowing students to choose their own texts or providing opportunities to help students understand how reading can authentically help them in daily life. Using reading to help students solve problems, write to pen pals or address issues in their communities can all be ways of doing this.

Participants in Erasmus+ projects may need to obtain a visa for staying abroad in the Programme or Partner Country hosting the activity. It is a responsibility of all the participating organisations to ensure that the authorisations required (short or long-term stay visas or residence permits) are in order before the planned activity takes place. It is strongly recommended that the authorisations are requested from the competent authorities well in advance, since the process may take several weeks. National Agencies and the Executive Agency may give further advice and support concerning visas, residence permits, social security, etc. The EU Immigration Portal contains general information on visa and residence permits, for both short-term and longterm stays.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

There's a myth that says you can't simultaneously hold a full-time job and go to school. Consider that myth busted. Georgetown's McCourt School of Public Policy reports that 70 percent of college students currently work while enrolled. Out of these, about 40 percent of undergraduates and 76 percent of graduate students work full time. Plus, one-third of working learners are age 30 or older. Because of their flexibility, online degrees allow students to go to class anytime that fits their schedule. It's even true that many employers sponsor their employees' education to help them gain relevant skills and competencies. (Examples of these companies include UPS, Starbucks and Fidelity Investments.) The evidence is clear: Earning a college degree might just be one of the best choices you can make for your future.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

Linguistic support will mainly be offered via the Erasmus+ Online Linguistic Support, as e-learning offers advantages for language learning in terms of access and flexibility. The Erasmus+ Online Linguistic Support (<http://erasmusplusols.eu>) includes a mandatory assessment of language competences and voluntary language courses. Language assessment is a crucial aspect of the initiative in order to provide the right preparation for each participant and collect evidence on language skills of EU mobility participants. Therefore, a language assessment will be undertaken by participants before mobility and another assessment will be carried out at the end of the mobility period to monitor progress in language competences. The results of the language assessment test carried out by participants before their departure will not preclude them from taking part in the mobility activity, whatever the result is. The online language assessment shall thus not be used to select Erasmus+ mobility participants, but to provide them with an opportunity to boost their level where needed.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

Erasmus+ promotes the open access of project outputs to support learning, teaching, training, and youth work. In particular, Erasmus+ beneficiaries are committed to make any educational resources and tools which are produced in the context of projects supported by the Programme - documents, media, software or other materials freely available for the public under an open license. The materials should be easily accessible and retrievable without cost or limitations, and the open licence must allow the public to use, reuse, adapt and share the resource. Such materials are known as 'Open Educational Resources' (OER). To achieve this aim, the resources should be uploaded in an editable digital form, on a suitable and openly accessible platform. The European Commission is ultimately responsible for the running of the Erasmus+ Programme. It manages the budget and sets priorities, targets and criteria for the Programme on an on-going basis. Furthermore, it guides and monitors the general implementation, follow-up and evaluation of the Programme at European level.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

Because teachers are busy giving instructions and administering classwork throughout the day, there's little to no time for adapting lesson plans, grading assignments or preparing tests. These behind-the-scenes tasks require teachers to arrive at school early, stay at school long after students are dismissed and work weekends. Teachers have many different students spread across several different classes. Each lesson requires hours of effort, meaning teachers must work during their personal time without receiving any additional compensation. "Why do crowded classrooms bother you? I thought you liked your students." There are many different methods of teaching and learning, and utilizing the wrong method can lead to low grades and long-term educational issues. And crowded classrooms make customized education almost impossible. With fewer pupils in each classroom, teachers can spend more time focusing on the personal learning needs of each student, providing each one with a quality learning experience.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

Anyone with a career in education knows that a teacher's job is comprised of much more than grading assignments and planning lessons. General misconceptions often overlook the many responsibilities teachers face when not working directly with students. Below are seven common assumptions people make that teachers can't help but roll their eyes at. "At least teachers get to take summers off."

Just because school is out for the summer doesn't mean teachers don't have work to do. Many teachers spend their summer days teaching summer school classes and tutoring students who need extra help. In addition to preparing students for the coming school year, the first day back from summer vacation takes precise planning and preparation to go off smoothly. Throughout the summer, teachers must arrange their lesson plans for the forthcoming year, organize their classrooms and attend faculty meetings.

Traduzione e comprensione lingua inglese:

Individuals - students, trainees, apprentices, pupils, adult learners, young people, volunteers, professors, teachers, trainers, youth workers, professionals of organisations active in the fields of education, training and youth constitute the main target population of the Programme. However, the Programme reaches these individuals through organisations, institutions, bodies or groups that organise such activities. The conditions of access to the Programme therefore relate to these two actors: the "participants" (individuals participating in the Programme) and the "participating organisations" (including groups of at least four young people active in youth work but not necessarily in the context of youth organisations, also referred to as informal groups of young people). For both participants and participating organisations, the conditions for participation depend on the country in which they are based.
